Exceller Meal - High Bypass, Highly Digestible Soybean Meal

Exceller Meal is produced from soybeans by optimum heating, steeping, and mechanical processing. Exceller Meal has been scientifically tested to meet or exceed performance standards of other nationally recognized solvent and mechanical extracted soybean meal products.

High bypass soybean meal has been proven to increase milk production. Exceller Meal is the ingredient of choice by nutritionists when formulating diets for high producing dairy cows.

First In Quality

Since 1991 Quality Roasting has been providing soybean products and professional services to producers and feed manufacturers.

Our process provides high nutrient value and consistent quality soybean products to meet the demands of high producing dairy cows.
